First-Sale Readiness Checklist

Fourteen questions to answer before you sell, and an eight-system diagnostic to find your constraint.

You are not afraid of hard work — you are afraid of getting it wrong. This checklist exists so the time and money you are about to invest are spent in the right order, the first time.

SET IT UP RIGHT ON DAY ONE, AND YOU NEVER PAY TWICE FOR THE SAME MISTAKE.

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

How to use this checklist

Fourteen items, drawn from Appendix F of the book. They are not tasks to admire — they are conditions to meet before you take money from a client.

01 Answer honestly, not aspirationally

Check an item only if it is true today. A generous self-assessment is comfortable and useless. An unchecked box is not a failure — it is the next thing to do.

02 Work top to bottom

The order is deliberate. Items one and two settle who you serve and whether they care. Nothing below them holds if those two are unchecked.

03 Use the notes column

Beside each item there is room to name what is missing. That note is the actual value of this document — it becomes your task list.

04 Return every ninety days

Save this file and re-open it each quarter. The pattern across four quarters will tell you more than any single month's revenue.

ONE CAUTION

This checklist is educational and is not legal, tax, or financial advice. Several items — entity choice, insurance, tax treatment — warrant a qualified professional for your specific situation. Confirm requirements at the official source.

APPENDIX F · ITEMS 1 – 7

Before you sell

Check only what is true today. Use the notes column to name what is missing.

WHAT IS MISSING?

☐	01 Ideal client, problem, outcome, offer, scope, price, and boundaries are written Written down, not held in your head.
☐	02 At least ten relevant conversations support the problem and the language Conversations with real prospects, not friends being kind.
☐	03 The offer can be delivered within actual capacity and at an acceptable margin Run the arithmetic on hours as well as price.
☐	04 Required structure, registration, licenses, permits, zoning, and professional rules confirmed Confirmed at the source, for your state and locality.
☐	05 Name and trademark risk were reviewed before major brand investment Search first. A logo is cheap to redo; a name is not.
☐	06 A suitable client agreement, scope, terms, privacy practices, and disclaimers are ready Ready to send, not planned.
☐	07 Appropriate insurance is active, or the risk decision is documented with advice A documented decision is acceptable. An assumption is not.

Money, delivery, and protection

These are the systems least visible from outside, and the most expensive to postpone.

WHAT IS MISSING?

☐	EIN obtained if needed, business banking separate, payment processing tested 08 Tested means you have moved a real dollar through it.
☐	Bookkeeping, receipts, invoicing, receivables, tax reserve, and estimated tax are defined 09 Defined and scheduled, with an owner and a date.
☐	Invitation, qualification, discovery, proposal, follow-up, and decision steps documented 10 The pipeline exists on paper before it exists in practice.
☐	Onboarding, intake, communication, milestones, feedback, and offboarding are ready 11 Delivery is where the next sale is created.
☐	The CRM records stage, value, source, next action, and next date 12 A spreadsheet counts, provided it holds all five.
☐	MFA, password manager, access control, backup, and recovery are in place 13 Recovery means you have tested restoring something.
☐	You know what data may and may not be entered into AI tools 14 Client-identifying and regulated data stays out.

CHAPTER TWO · THE DIAGNOSTIC

Score the eight systems

One means “does not exist.” Five means “documented, working, and reviewed on a schedule.” Be unkind to yourself in the scoring.

		SCORE 1-5
1	Clarity and strategy Ideal client, urgent problem, promise, position, model, goals
2	Market and demand Research, buyer conversations, competitor awareness, proof buyers care
3	Offer and value Outcome, scope, method, price, terms, differentiation, profitability
4	Marketing and visibility Message, authority, content, partnerships, referrals, leads
5	Sales and pipeline Contacts, follow-up, discovery, proposals, decisions, conversion
6	Client delivery Onboarding, service process, quality, communication, results, offboarding
7	Money and compliance Cash, accounting, tax, legal, insurance, contracts, licenses, records
8	Operations and capacity Calendar, technology, security, documentation, delegation, automation

YOUR CONSTRAINT

Find your lowest score. That system is your constraint, and until it is strengthened, effort applied to any other system will produce less than it should. Write it below.

MY LOWEST-SCORING SYSTEM

THE ONE-SENTENCE EXERCISE

Write the sentence

This is the exercise from the close of the session. It takes about four minutes and it is the part most founders say they remember.

Write one sentence that names who you serve and the specific problem you solve for them. Not a tagline. Not something for a website. One plain sentence you could say out loud to a stranger.

MY SENTENCE

IF YOU CAN WRITE IT

Read it back and ask one question: would the person I just described recognize themselves in it? That question has saved founders entire years.

IF YOU CANNOT WRITE IT YET

That is not a failure — that is your diagnosis. It means the validation conversations in Part II are where your work begins, and knowing that is worth more than anything else you could take from today.

WOULD THAT PERSON RECOGNIZE THEMSELVES? WHAT WOULD YOU CHANGE?

FROM CHECKLIST TO CALENDAR

Your next three actions

Look back at every unchecked box. Choose the three that come first in the sequence — not the three that feel easiest. Give each an owner and a date.

QUARTERLY REVIEW

Re-score all eight systems ninety days from today.

REVIEW ON

Three anchors

Clarity before complexity

Capacity before scale

Human authority throughout

You have a gift, and it was given to you for a reason. The work now is to build the structure that lets you steward it well — without spending yourself to do it, and without compromising what you will not compromise.

The full sequence — eight systems, the correct start order, formation, revenue, operating rhythms, AI, and a ninety-day roadmap — is laid out step by step in the book.
